Merry Christmas from the NMM

Reflecting on the year, it has been one of many challenges for all. While the museum closed for close to three months during the year, we have been blown-away by the generosity and spirit of South Australians who in large numbers replaced the interstate and international visitors we did not see at the museum for most of the year.

We end 2020 on a high note with a major new exhibition opening in mid-December. We know that Holden Heroes : a retrospective 1948-2017 will bring renewed attention to the museum and with the activities we have planned for 2021 we all look forward to welcoming more visitors.

Best wishes to you and yours from the National Motor Museum team.

HOLDEN HEROES A RETROSPECTIVE 1948-2017

Holden's finest and most important machines, never before seen under one roof!

Holden Heroes: 1948 to 2017 A Retrospective is a showcase of 18 of the most special vehicles from Holden's Heritage Collection on display at the National Motor Museum.

The National Motor Museum has partnered with GM Australia & New Zealand to exhibit some of Australia's most significant motoring history.

On display is the amazing Hurricane (1969); the unique Torana GTR-X (1970) and the fantastic and brave design of the EFIJY (2005). There is also the Number One Holden (1948) and the very last Australian made Holden, a VF Commodore Series II SS Redline (2017) as well as the significant 'millionth' vehicles produced by Holden.

We've been thrilled to welcome vehicle clubs back to the National Motor Museum in the recent months, including the very successful All Japan Day Classic held on Sunday 13 Dec.

Approximately 140 classic Japanese vehicles filled the museum grounds with a great afternoon for enthusiasts, owners, and spectators alike.

Why not take the opportunity to bring your vehicle club to the National Motor Museum for an organised run and display in 2021? Not only will club members receive free entry to the museum, but you'll be able to view our brand new exhibition Holden Heroes: a retrospective 1948-2017!
